Employee Recognition

Tom Busch receives Crimson Spirit Award

Tom Busch, fiscal analyst 2 for the Physics and Astronomy Department, received the October 2017 Crimson Spirit award. His nominators commended his "in-depth knowledge of policies and procedures" and praised him for noteworthy extra efforts, exceeding expectations, and providing outstanding contributions to the WSU community.

A nominator explained that Mr. Busch is the "go-to for help and advice for grant proposal submission, grant reconciliation, and other departmental issues." The nominator continues with "Keep in mind, helping me is not his job," because he is in a different department! She expands further on Mr. Busch’s contributions, noting that "When we have attended research administrators meetings, he is always well prepared, having brought pages of extra research…. showing WSU statistics, peer-institution statistics, and national statistics."

As another nominator concludes, Mr. Busch’s answers are "always thoughtful, precise and organized in a way that is easy to understand. He is always willing to help research any problem and provides back-up documentation for use in the future."

Anyone can nominate a WSU employee for the Crimson Spirit Award. Whether you are an employee, a student, or a member of the broader WSU community, you can honor a WSU employee’s noteworthy extra efforts by visiting go.wsu.edu/CrimsonSpirit and nominating them for this prestigious award.

Benefits

Keep your heart healthy—and your waistline trim—at holiday meals

Holiday meals, with turkey or ham and all the fixings, can turn the dining room table into a high calorie smorgasbord. American adults usually gain one to two pounds each year, including slightly less than one pound during the holidays alone. Over time, that gradual weight increase can raise your risk of serious health problems such as diabetes, arthritis, and cardiovascular disease. Here are some helpful ideas to have a heart healthy holiday:

Un-stuff the stuffing: Un-stuffed, it won’t absorb all the fat from the bird and the bird cooks more thoroughly, killing any salmonella that may be present. Try adding nuts and fruits instead of sausage or turkey giblets.

Bring out the fruits and vegetables: Greens such as broccoli, spinach, and collard greens pack vitamin power! Serve colorful raw veggies as an appetizer.

Make smart substitutions: Use olive oil in place of margarine, mash potatoes with chicken or vegetable stock, and use low-sodium stock or make your own.

Don’t starve yourself until dinner: Have a healthy breakfast so you don’t load up at the big meal. Go easy on second helpings and dessert.

The benefits of exercise: Take a walk after dinner, or exercise sometime during the day to offset meal calories.
